

Philosophy

PHIL 101 (1591)

Philosophy I

Prerequisite: None

Credit Hours: 3

Introduces the nature and scope of philosophic thought and terminology, stressing the influence of philosophy on the individual and the world. Many names, topics, and writings from various periods are studied with an emphasis on the Greeks and their subsequent influence.

PHIL 102 (1592) Philosophy II (IO)

Prerequisite: PHIL 101 Philosophy I

Credit Hours: 3

Advanced study of philosophy including reading, discussing, and evaluating the concentration existential writers.

PHIL 106 (1957) Ethics

Reading Placement Test Level: Reading for Academic Success*

Prerequisite: None

Credit Hours: 3

This course provides a systematic and critical study of values related to human conduct. It focuses on both traditional standards of ethical conduct and qualities of personal character. What we hold to be right or wrong, the basis for believing so, and what we consider to be virtues or vices are examined with an eye to understand our current ethical situation.

PHIL 104 (1593)

Introduction to Logic

Prerequisite: None

Credit Hours: 3

An informal logic and critical reasoning perspective will be emphasized in this course so one may develop a system of methods and principles that can be used to evaluate other's arguments and to develop one's own arguments. Students will be introduced to the basic concepts of logic: arguments, meaning and definition of language, fallacies, propositions, and syllogisms.

PHIL 201 (1596) Medical Ethics

Prerequisite: None

Credit Hours: 1

This course is a survey of ethical theories as they apply to the quest for justice and happiness in the context of the medical profession. The course begins with a discussion of moral reasoning, and then examines major ethical theories and the application of those theories to current moral issues in the medical field.

HUMA 101 (5921) Introduction to the Humanities

Prerequisite: None

Credit Hours: 3

This course serves as a basic introduction to the humanities and to the various disciplines. It helps students understand the influences affecting the human experience and the role that the humanities play in personal and cultural enrichment. Furthermore, by providing students a sampling of various disciplines, this course encourages students to select one or more specific disciplines within the humanities for further study.
